```
לַדַוָּד מָזְמוֹר 143:1
                                                                                                                                                                                                               תַּחֲנוּנִי - אֵל
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      . <<A Psalm of David.>>
                                                              יָהוַה שָׁמַע תִּפְלַתִי הַאַזִינַה eazin·e
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 Hear my prayer, O LORD, {\tt thphlth\cdot i} mzmur 1.dud ieue shmo
                                                                                                                                                                                                                al - thchnun\cdoti to in give ear
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               my \texttt{psalm to} \cdot \texttt{David Yahweh hear-you ! prayer-of} \cdot \texttt{me} \quad \texttt{cgive-ear-you ! to} \quad \texttt{supplications-of} \cdot \texttt{me} supplications:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  faithfulness answer
 בָּאֶמֶנְתְדְּ
                                                                                                                        בְּצִּדְקֶתֶּדְ
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  [and] in thy righteousness.
                                                                                                                     b·tzdqth·k
b.amnth.k
                                                                   on·ni
 \verb"in-faithfulness-of-you" answer-you-me" ! \verb"in-righteousness-of-you" עַבְהֶדְ אֶת בְּמִשְׁפְּט
b·mshpht ath - obd·k <sup>2</sup> And enter not into תבוא ־ judgment with thy servant:
                                                        - thbua
               u·al ki la -
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  for in thy sight shall no man \verb"and-must-not-be" you-are-entering in-judgment with servant-of-you that not living be justified.
                                                                                                                   בֿל
                                                                                                                                       - חָר
                                                                   לפָנֵידְּ יִצְדַק itzdq lopiniok kl - chi he-is-being-righteous to faces-of you any-of living-one <sup>3</sup> For the enemy hath 143:3
                                רַרַף
                                                                         אוֹיֵב נפשי
                                                                                                                                                              ΤÇΧ
                                                                                                                                                                                                לָאָרֶץ חַיָּתִי persecuted my soul; he hath nphsh·i dka ki rdph auib
                                                                                                                                                                                                1.artz chith·i smitten my life down to the
                that he-persecuted one-being-enemy soul-of \cdot me he-crushed to \cdot the \cdot earth life-of \cdot me ground; he hath made me to dwell in darkness, as those כמתי
                                                                                                                                                              : עוֹלַם במחשכים
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  that have been long dead.
                                          b·mchshkim k·mthi
 eushib·ni oulm :
 he-cmade-sit·me in·darknesses as·ones-being-dead-of eon יִשְׁתוֹמֵם בְּתוֹכִי רוּחִי עֶּלְי ol·i ruch·i b·thuk·i ishthumm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 <sup>4</sup> Therefore is my spirit overwhelmed within me;
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            לְבִי
 וַתְּתְעַמֵּךְ 143:4
               u·ththotph lb·i my heart within me is \verb| and \cdot she-is-|^sdrooping | on \cdot me | spirit-of \cdot me | in \cdot midst-of \cdot me | he-is-|^sbeing-dejected | heart-of \cdot me | he-is-|^sbeing-dejected desolate.
                                                                                                                                                           בְּכָל
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 <sup>5</sup> I remember the days of הָגִיתִי
                                                                                                                                                                                        - פָּעֶלֶדְ
                                               מָקֶדֶם יָמִים במעשה imim m·qdm egithi
                                                                                                                                       b·kl
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 old; I meditate on all thy
                                                                                                                                                                                   - phol·k
               zkrthi
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      b·moshe
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  works; I muse on the work \hbox{$\mathtt{I}$-remember days from $\cdot$ aforetime $\mathtt{I}$-soliloquize in $\cdot$ all-of contrivance-of $\cdot$ you in $\cdot$ deed-of $\mathsf{I}$-soliloquize in $\cdot$ all-of contrivance $-$ of $\cdot$ you in $\cdot$ deed-of $\cdot$ you have $-\cdot$ and $-\cdot$ you have
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 of thy hands.
 וָדֵיך idi•k ashuchch hands-of.you I-am-meditating
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 <sup>6</sup> I stretch forth my hands 143:6 בַרְשָׂתִי
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 unto thee: my soul [thirsteth] after thee, as a phrshthi id·i ali·k nphsh·i k·artz - oiphe l·k sle I^{-m}spread hands-of·me to·you soul-of·me as·land fainting to·you interlude thirsty land. Selah.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  <sup>7</sup>. Hear me speedily, O
                                                                                                                                 כָּלְתָה
 מַהֶּר 143:7
                                                          עַנֵנִי יָהוָה רוחי
                                                        on·ni
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 LORD: my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from me, mer
                                                                                                         ieue klthe ruch·i al \label{eq:master-you} \mbox{\tt $^{m}$ hasten-you ! answer-you \cdot me ! Yahweh she-is-exhausted spirit-of \cdot me must-not-be} lest I be like unto them that go down into the pit.
                                                                                                                                                                                             ירדי - עם כזמוני וִנִמִשׁלְתִּי
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          : בור תסתר mm·ni u·nmshlthi phni·k thsthr om - irdi bur :
 you-are-concealing faces-of·you from⋅me and⋅I-am-ncomparable with ones-descending-of crypt <sup>8</sup> Cause me to hear thy
                                                                                                                                                                                                - קך
 143:8 הַשָּׁמִיעֵנִי
                                                                                     בַבֹּקֶר
                                                                                                                                  חַסְדֵּךְ כֿג .∴ ܡܕ'ٺ eshmioʻni ki - b·k lovingkindness in the b·bqr chsd·k btchthi morning; for in thee do I \texttt{cause-to-hear-you\cdot me} ~!~ \texttt{in} \cdot \bar{\texttt{the}} \cdot \texttt{morning} ~ \texttt{kindness-of} \cdot \texttt{you} ~ \texttt{that} ~ \texttt{in} \cdot \texttt{you} ~ \texttt{I-trust} trust: cause me to know the אַלֶּידְ - כִּי way wherein I should walk;
                                                                                                  אַלַד נַשָּׂאתִי זו - דֶּרֶדְ for I lift up my soul unto eudio·ni drk - zu alk ki - ali·k nshathi nphsh·i :
^make-known-you·me! way this I-shall-go that to·you I-lift-up soul-of·me thee.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 <sup>9</sup> Deliver me, O LORD,
 הַצִּילֵנִי 143:9
                                                                   מאיבי
                                                                                                                                                                                    אַלֵּידְ יָהוַה כָסָתִי
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 from mine enemies: I flee ali·k ksthi
                etzil·ni
                                                           m·aib·i ieue
               {}^{\texttt{c}} \texttt{rescue-you} \cdot \texttt{me} \texttt{ ! from} \cdot \texttt{ones-being-enemies-of} \cdot \texttt{me} \texttt{ Yahweh to} \cdot \texttt{you} \texttt{ I-}{}^{\texttt{m}} \texttt{cover} unto thee to hide me.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  10 Teach me to do thy will;
                                                                                                        רצונֶד לַעשות
                                                                                                                                                         אַלוֹהַי אַתַּה ־ כִּי רותק מובה
                                            1.oshuth
                  lmd·ni l·oshuth rtzun·k ki - athe alue·i ruch·k tube mteach-you·me! to·to-do-of approval-of·you that you Elohim-of·me spirit-of·you good for thou [art] my God: thy spirit [is] good; lead me into the land of uprightness.
 תַנְחֵנִי בָאֶרֶץ thnch·ni b·artz mishur :
 she-shall-cguide·me in·land-of upright
                                                          - שָׁמְדּ
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  <sup>11</sup> Quicken me, O LORD,
 לַמַעַן 143:11
                                                                                                                                                                                                  בָּצִדְקֶתְדְּ ieue
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 for thy name's sake: for thy lmon
                                                         - shm·k
                                                                                                                           thchi·ni b·tzdqth·k righteousness'sake bring my \verb|on-account-of| & \verb|name-of\cdot you| & \verb|Yahweh| & \verb|you-shall-make-live\cdot me| & \verb|in-righteousness-of\cdot you| \\ soul out of trouble.
                                                                    מָצֶרָה נפשי
                                                                                            ₩--
                                                                    m·tzre
 you-shall-cbring-forth from distress soul-of me <sup>12</sup> And of thy mercy cut off 143:12 וֹבְחַסְדָּךְ והאבדת aib∙i mine enemies, and destroy u·eabdth
                  u·b·chsd·k thtzmith k1
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 all them that afflict my soul:
                  \verb|and.in.kindness-of.you| you-shall-cefface one-being-enemies-of.me | \verb|and.you-c| destroy| | all-of | all-of
```

for I [am] thy servant.

tzrri nphsh·i ki ani obd·k : ones-being-foes-of soul-of·me that I servant-of·you